

Collaboration tools in everyday business

Communication tools and collaboration software for effective teamwork

Seminar objective

In the seminar "Collaboration tools in everyday business", participants learn how they can work together more efficiently and productively with the help of collaboration tools. They should understand what types of collaboration tools exist, what advantages they offer and how to find the right one depending on the area of application.

Furthermore, participants should be able to select the most suitable tools for their needs and implement them successfully. The aim is to improve internal collaboration, better control processes and thus increase the company's success.
